

With over 30 years of combined experience watching others claim their products are compatible with one another (sealant & asphalt flashing), we felt the need to change the way the "system" was viewed, and of course, the way it performed. We've introduced a new line of sealants and flashings that have been modified to meet the real definition of "compatibility." Tested at extreme temperatures, we guarantee you won't find any other system that offers the same high performance results. Call today for a sample of the new XtraBond™ 7500 or XtraBond™ 8500 that was designed especially to do the job right
